SYNOPSIS: Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl: Elizabeth Swann, her father Gov. Swann, and James Norrington rescue young Will Turner from a shipwreck and Elizabeth takes and keeps the Medallion she found on him. Years later James Norrington proposes to Elizabeth but she passes out and falls into the ocean summoning the Black Pearl due to the medallion she took from Will Turner years ago touching the water. She is saved by Jack Sparrow who was watching nearby and when they come ashore Jack is claimed to be a pirate by a mark on his arm. He tries to escape but runs into Will Turner and they end up in a sword duel. Jack ends up getting knocked out is imprisoned. The crew of the Black Pearl then enters the town in search of the medallion and they capture Elizabeth. They bring her onto the ship and she finds out they are all cursed and need her medallion and a blood sacrifice to lift the curse. She said her last name was Turner so they think her blood will work for the ritual. Will frees Jack from jail when he agrees to help him find Elizabeth and learns that Captain Barbossa of the Black Pearl mutinied and left Jack alone on an island with a gun and one bullet but Jack escaped. They steal a ship and recruit a crew from Tortuga. They arrive at the Isla De Muerta where the blood ritual fails because Elizabeth is not the child of Bootstrap Bill who is Will's father. Will saves Elizabeth and Jack and his crew are thrown in the brig on the Black Pearl. The Pearl takes over the ship Elizabeth and Will are on where Will agrees to help lift the curse if Elizabeth is set free. The agreement is made but Barbossa leaves Elizabeth and Jack on the island he marooned Jack on last time. Elizabeth signals James Norrington's ship to save them. He agrees to save Will if she marries him. Norrington goes back to save Will but Barbossa sends his crew to kill Norrington's. Elizabeth escapes, frees Jack and his crew, and goes to save Will. As Jack fights Barbossa and Elizabeth fights off his crew, Will draws blood and catches the coin from Jack, dropping it in the chest and lifting the curse right as Jack shoots and kills Barbossa. Jack is ended up captured and sentenced to death back in Elizabeth and Will's home city. Will saves him from being hanged and Elizabeth saves both of them by demanding they be set free. Jack escapes on the Pearl and Will is pardoned and given a blessing by Elizabeth's father to marry her.
